

Individual Submission

Name: David Morris

ID: 201084474

Personal Statement

During this project a lot of my tasks and parts of the project were mainly design based, both designs for the appearance of the website, and for the design of how the website worked. In the early stages of the project development I made the use case diagrams showing how the user would use the website and what things would happen if the user selected these options. Later, I created the storyboards for the website pages for all the platforms in which the website was on.

As there were 3 different designs for the 3 different platforms. During the implementation of the project I designed and created the colours, textures, logo, and the name of the project. In the time of the project I have improved my communication skills with team members and sharing ideas. And I have gained a few technical skills with using some of the software that we used during the time we developed the website.